BELGIUM

19.11.2019 1.2 tons of cocaine were found and seized in a lemon container at the port of Antwerp. The container arrived in Antwerp by ship from Itajai, Brazil. A 53-year-old Belgian citizen, a truck driver who was to extract drugs from the container, was arrested. The investigation is conducted by the Federal Judicial Police of Antwerp under the supervision of an investigating judge. <https://www.hln.be/in-de-buurt/antwerpen/1-2-ton-cocaine-aangetroffen-in-container-met-limoenen-in-antwerpse-haven~a36b6a01/>

BRAZIL

15.11.2019 Federal Revenue Service teams discovered 777 kg of cocaine hidden in a shipment of orange oil destined for Europe during an operation at a container terminal in the port of Santos. The shipment of orange oil was contained in barrels and the final destination was the port of Rotterdam, the Netherlands. The cocaine shipment was detected using objective risk analysis criteria, including non-intrusive scanner control. After opening the container, several sports bags containing multicoloured packages of cocaine were found on the barrels and next to the doors. The smugglers used the "rip-off" method, in which drug is injected into a licit shipment without the knowledge of exporters and importers. The cocaine seized has been handed over to the Federal Police, which will continue to investigate the case using the information provided by Customs.

CHINA

08.11.2019 Hong Kong Customs at Kwai Chung Customhouse seized 1.57 million fenetylline tablets from a trans-shipment container. Fenetylline as an active substance contains amphetamine, which is controlled under the Dangerous Drugs Ordinance (DDO). Estimated value of the consignment is about 245 million US dollars. Through a risk assessment, customs officials have selected a maritime container from Syria bound for Saudi Arabia via Hong Kong and mainland for inspection. The cargo, according to accompanying documents, was a shipment of furniture. Fenetylline was hidden under the seats of 84 sofas. The drug syndicate used a bypass route to transport drugs from the Middle East and back to the same region. Fenetylline is usually produced in the form of pills and was once used as a cure for mental disorders or nervous system diseases in foreign countries. As an amphetamine-type stimulant, it causes human euphoria and addiction.
